Description: A roughly-cut granite monument stands on what is left of Liberty Point in Fayetteville. Centered on the monument is a smooth surface onto which are carved the names of all those that signed the Liberty Point Resolves.

The names of "JOSEPH and ROBERT GREEN" are spelled on the monument incorrectly. The correct spelling is "JOSEPH and ROBERT GREER" (see the list of the signers of the "The declaration of independence by the citizens of Mecklenburg County, on the twentieth day of May, 1775" <sup>[4].</sup>)

Dedication date: 1909

Materials & Techniques: Granite

Unveiling & Dedication: The monument was likely dedicated in June 1909 in conjunction with Liberty Point Day celebrated in Fayetteville. A vintage postcard image shows a street in Fayetteville<sup>[7]</sup> fully decorated with flags and patriotic garlands, and a message on the reverse indicates June 21, 1909 as the date of the celebration.

Subject notes: The Liberty Point Resolves, an early declaration of independence from England, was signed by 50 residents of Cumberland County, known as the Cumberland Association, in 1775. These men met at a tavern in Cross Creek to sign the document, vowing to "Go forth and be ready to sacrifice our lives and fortunes to secure the colony's freedom and safety."

Vintage postcard images show the historic location of the Liberty Point Resolves prior to the installation of the marker. Postcard image<sup>[8]</sup> | Postcard image<sup>[9]</sup>

Location: The monument stands in a small park at the intersection of Person Street and Bow Street. The park is accessed through a gate on Person Street.
