National Autonomous University of Mexico's library

National Autonomous University of Mexico's library

Several people walk on the grass in front of a heavily decorated building. The building is decorated with designs inspired from pre-Columbian motifs. The National Autonomous University of Mexico was founded in 1551, making it the second oldest university in the Western hemisphere, after Peru's National University of San Marcos. It is the largest university in Latin American and is considered one of the world's elite universities. This building is the University's main library.

Usage Statement:

Creative Commons BY-NC-SA

This item has a Creative Commons license for re-use. This Creative Commons BY-NC-SA license means that you may use, remix, tweak, and build upon the work for non-commerical purposes as long as you credit the original creator and as long as you license your new creation using the same license. For more information about Creative Commons licensing [1] and a link to the license, see full details at https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/4.0/ [2].