Street view of Ubud market center built in the mid-1980s

Women market vendors and motorcycles pass outside the front of a new market area built in Ubud, Bali, in the mid-1980s. Many of the salespeople in Bali are women and, as seen here, Balinese women carry their wares in large baskets balanced upon their heads. The market building is two stories high, built of cement with balconies and a painted metal roof.
