

Two train tracks merge in Chihuahua, Mexico

Two train tracks merge in Chihuahua, Mexico

Two train tracks merge in Chihuahua, Mexico

A single set of train tracks divides into two as a train travels toward the camera. The tracks travel through low rocky hills. Chihuahua is the largest state in Mexico and shares a border with the United States. The largest city in the state is Ciudad Juarez, which is known for its manufacturing industry. The state is named for the Chihuahua desert, though much of the state is actually covered in the leafy forests pictured here.

Usage Statement:

Creative Commons BY-NC-SA

This item has a Creative Commons license for re-use. This Creative Commons BY-NC-SA license means that you may use, remix, tweak, and build upon the work for non-commercial purposes as long as you credit the original creator and as long as you license your new creation using the same license. For more information about Creative Commons licensing ^[1] and a link to the license, see full details at <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/4.0/> ^[2].

Source URL:<https://www.ncpedia.org/media/two-train-tracks-merge>

Links

[1] <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/> [2] <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/4.0/>