

Advanced Placement ^[1]

Type of Speech:

noun ^[2]

Definition:

Program under which high school students take advanced coursework and receive college credit for acceptable scores on nationally administered tests.

Additional Information:

Advanced Placement ^[3] programs were adopted in the U.S. in 1956 and are administered by the College Board ^[4], a not-for-profit association of secondary and higher education organizations offering programs related to college admission (including the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), assessment, financial aid, and enrollment).

Source URL: <https://www.ncpedia.org/glossary/advanced-placement>

Links

[1] <https://www.ncpedia.org/glossary/advanced-placement> [2] <https://www.ncpedia.org/category/parts-speech/noun> [3] <http://www.collegeboard.com/student/testing/ap/about.html> [4] <http://www.collegeboard.com>