

representative species ^[1]

Definition:

a species of organism that typifies a larger group or a characteristic of a larger group; i.e. the euglena is a representative of the flagellates

Source URL: <https://www.ncpedia.org/glossary/representative-species>

Links

[1] <https://www.ncpedia.org/glossary/representative-species>