Bartram, William [1]

Bartram, William

by Thomas C. Parramore, 1979

9 Feb. 1739-22 July 1823

William Bartramby, by Charles Willson Peale (1741-1827). Oil on paper on canvas, 1808. Courtesy of the Independence National Historical Park Collection Philadelphia, Pennsylvania via National Portrait Gallery. [2] William Bartram, naturalist, was the son of John Bartram, an eminent naturalist, and his wife, Ann Mendenhall Bartram. He was born near Philadelphia, where his gifts as an artist brought him in his youth to the attention of Benjamin Franklin [3]. Franklin proposed that William become an engraver, but he was apprenticed instead to a Philadelphia merchant in 1756. In 1761, his apprenticeship completed, William moved to Bladen County [4], where his uncle William had a large plantation and considerable property on the Cape Fear River [5]. Here the nephew opened a store and spent the next four years alternately occupied with his business and investigating the flora and fauna of the Cape Fear [6] region.

The Bartram family was established in the Cape Fear country by the early eighteenth century, when Bartram's grandfather, the first William Bartram, settled at Whitoc plantation. There he was attacked and killed by local Indians, and his wife and sons, William and John, were taken captive. Mrs. Bartram was subsequently able to return to Philadelphia with her sons. John remained in Philadelphia, but William later returned to North Carolina to resume control of their father's estate. He became a man of considerable influence as a colonel of militia and was for many years a representative in the colonial legislature of North Carolina. White Lake in Bladen County [4] was known as Lake Bartram when he owned much land in the vicinity. Colonel Bartram also had a son named William, first cousin of the naturalist, and it was this household that the naturalist joined in 1761. The two cousins were of UNC Libraries. [7] often companions on botanical and zoological jaunts in the vicinity of Ashwood, Bartram's plantation.

1

Drawing from Bartram's Travels. Courtesy

The mercantile venture of William Bartram did not prosper in Bladen. John Bartram, newly appointed as botanist to King George III, stopped by Ashwood in 1765 on a mission to Florida; he took his son with him on the trip, and afterward the two returned to Philadelphia. William tried for three more years to find success as a merchant in Philadelphia, but by 1770 he was almost bankrupt and disillusioned with the effort. He returned to Ashwood, where, during the next two years, Colonel Bartram, his wife, and their son, Dr. William Bartram, all died. Leaving Ashwood in the latter part of 1772 and returning once more to Philadelphia, Bartram in the following spring set forth on his famous "travels," outlined in the volume Travels through North and South Carolina, Georgia, etc. [8] which he brought out in 1791. Chiefly through the fine reception accorded to the book, Bartram became an established member of the international literary and scientific community and a member of many American and foreign learned societies. A Quaker [9] by upbringing, Bartram became an ardent deist.

Bartram visited Ashwood, apparently for the last time, late in 1776. He always held Ashwood in affectionate regard as a place where he and his cousins had engaged in "pastimes . . . of the most Innocent and simple nature such as amuse Brothers, Sisters and Friends." At least one biographer has suggested that William had a brief love affair with one of Colonel Bartram's daughters, but the naturalist was never married.

References:

DAB, vol. 2 (1929).

Ernest Earnest, John and William Bartram (1940).

Francis Harper, Travels of William Bartram, naturalists' ed. (1958).

Additional Resources: William Bartram, 1739-1823

Travels Through North & South Carolina, Georgia, East & West Florida, the Cherokee Country, the Extensive Territories of the Muscogulges, or Creek Confederacy, and the Country of the Chactaws; Containing An Account of the Soil and Natural Productions of Those Regions, Together with Observations on the Manners of the Indians. Embellished with Copper-Plates. Philadelphia: Printed by James & Johnson, 1791. UNC Libraries: https://docsouth.unc.edu/nc/bartram/menu.html [8]

The New Georgia Encyclopedia: http://www.georgiaencyclopedia.org/nge/Article.jsp?id=h-2179 [10]

Florida Museum of Natural History: http://www.flmnh.ufl.edu/naturalists/bartramw01.htm [11]

Encyclopedia of Alabama: http://www.encyclopediaofalabama.org/face/Article.jsp?id=h-1141 [12]

North Carolina Bartrum Trail Society: http://ncbartramtrail.org/about/about-bartram/ [13]

The Natures of John and William Bartram, by Thomas P. Slaughter, UPenn Press:  $\underline{\text{http://www.upenn.edu/pennpress/book/14205.html}}_{[14]}$

William Bartram's Legacy, Documenting the American South, UNC Libraries: https://docsouth.unc.edu/highlights/bartram.html [7]

"William Bartram." N.C. Highway Historical Marker Q-44, N.C. Office of Archives & History. https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/history/division-historical-resources/nc-highway-historical-marker-program/Markers.aspx?sp=Markers&k=Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/history/division-historical-resources/nc-highway-historical-marker-program/Markers.aspx?sp=Markers&k=Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/history/division-historical-resources/nc-highway-historical-marker-program/Markers.aspx?sp=Markers&k=Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/history/division-historical-resources/nc-highway-historical-marker-program/Markers.aspx?sp=Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/history/division-historical-resources/nc-highway-historical-marker-program/Markers.aspx?sp=Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/history/division-historical-resources/nc-highway-historical-marker-program/Markers.aspx?sp=Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/history/division-historical-resources/nc-highway-historical-marker-program/Markers.aspx?sp=Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/historical-marker-program/Markers.aspx?sp=Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/historical-marker-program/Markers.aspx?sp=Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/historical-marker-program/Markers.aspx?sp=Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/historical-marker-program/Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/historical-marker-program/Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/historical-marker-program/Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/historical-marker-program/Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/historical-marker-program/Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/historical-marker-program/Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/historical-marker-program/Markers&sv=Q-44">https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/historical-marker-program/Marker

Fagin, Nathan Bryllion. William Bartram, interpreter of the American landscape.Baltimore, The Johns Hopkins Press. 1933. https://archive.org/details/cu31924103992644 (accessed March 22, 2013).

Image Credits:

William Bartramby, by Charles Willson Peale (1741-1827). Oil on paper on canvas, 1808. Courtesy of the Independence National Historical Park Collection Philadelphia, Pennsylvania via National Portrait Gallery. Available from http://www.npg.si.edu/exh/franklin/bartram.htm [2] (accessed March 22, 2013).

Drawing from Bartram's Travels. Courtesy of UNC Libraries. Available from https://docsouth.unc.edu/highlights/bartram.html [7] (accessed March 22, 2013).

Subjects:

Biographies [17]
Scientists & Inventors [18]
Writers, journalists, and editors [19]
Authors:

Parramore, Thomas C. [20]

Origin - location: Bladen County [21]

From:

Dictionary of North Carolina Biography, University of North Carolina Press. [22]

1 January 1979 | Parramore, Thomas C.

Source URL: https://www.ncpedia.org/biography/bartram-william

Links

[1] https://www.ncpedia.org/biography/bartram-william [2] http://www.npg.si.edu/exh/franklin/bartram.htm [3] https://www.ncpedia.org/com/people/benjamin-franklin-9301234 [4] https://www.ncpedia.org/geography/bladen [5] https://www.ncpedia.org/rivers/cape-fear [6] https://www.ncpedia.org/cape-fear-river-settlements [7] https://docsouth.unc.edu/nighlights/bartram.html [8] https://docsouth.unc.edu/nc/bartram/menu.html [9] https://www.ncpedia.org/quakers [10] http://www.georgiaencyclopedia.org/nge/Article.jsp?id=h-2179 [11] http://www.flmnh.ufl.edu/naturalists/bartramw01.htm [12] http://www.encyclopediaofalabama.org/face/Article.jsp?id=h-1141 [13] http://ncbartramtrail.org/about/about-bartram/ [14] http://www.upenn.edu/pennpress/book/14205.html [15] https://www.ncdcr.gov/about/history/division-historical-resources/nc-highway-historical-marker-program/Markers.aspx?sp=Markers&k=Markers&sv=Q-44 [16] https://archive.org/details/cu31924103992644 [17] https://www.ncpedia.org/category/subjects/biography-term [18] https://www.ncpedia.org/category/subjects/scientists-inventors [19] https://www.ncpedia.org/category/subjects/writer [20] https://www.ncpedia.org/category/entry-source/dictionary-no