He was a member of the state House of Representatives in 1887 and the attorney for Craven County <sup>[10]</sup> from 1890 to 1896.

In 1893 Thomas was named a trustee of The University of North Carolina, and in 1896 he was a member of the Democratic state executive committee and a presidential elector on the ticket of Bryan and Sewall. As a Democrat, he was elected to Congress in 1888 and served five terms between 4 Mar. 1889 and 3 Mar. 1911. In 1924 his party named him a delegate to its national convention in New York City. The following year, because of his wife's health, they moved to Waynesville but spent most of their winters in Norfolk, Va. Thomas gave many valuable books to the city library in Waynesville. In Norfolk he was a vestryman at Christ Episcopal Church.

Thomas's first wife, whom he married in 1887, was Laura Pasteur Davis, of Beaufort, the daughter of Major James C. Davis.
